Still Searching for PLANET 9

This speculative Planet 9, according to estimates, would be about 5 to 10 Earth masses in size and orbit about 400 to 800 au from the sun.

A planet at this distance would be extremely difficult to spot in normal optical sky searches because of its faintness, even to telescopes like PanSTARRS and LSST.

Why Assassin Creed's Syndicate is One of the Best Assassin's

The ninth game in the series, Syndicate came out in the wrong place at the wrong time, causing even die-hard fans of the franchise to pass over it.

However, if fans revisited it today, they might have their minds changed, as Syndicate is actually an excellent Assassin's Creed game, arguably one of the best in the franchise.
